HAVE YOU GOT THE MESSAGE?

- Hundreds of emails of support for our campaign calling for more winter flights especially from Scotland.
- British tourists show that they are willing to make long, 12 hour journeys just to get to their favourite island, even though there are direct flights to competing destinations.
- Airlines say there is NO demand we say see all the emails we have received in the space of 24 hours which clearly underlines the fact that there is demand for at least one weekly flight from Scotland.
- One email said that seeing the almond blossom in Majorca was worth a 12 hour journey even though Majorca was just two hours away by plane.
- We rest our case, Majorca in the winter is fantastic. We know that, you know that but someone, somewhere is missing the point.
