Brexit in the spotlight in Palma

Palma.—The Balearic government organised a conference last night on Brexit at the La Caixa conference centre. The participants were Lloyd Millen, the British Consul General to Catalonia and the Balearic Islands, Pol Miralles, Principal Investigator at the Barcelona Centre for European Affairs, Miguel Otero, Principal Investigator at Real Instituto Elcano and Matthew Tree, British writer and Barcelona resident.

There are widespread fears in the Balearics over how Britain's exit from the European Union will hit the local economy and tourism.

A full report will appear in tomorrow's newspaper.
