

Majorca Daily Bulletin

Saturday, January 14 2017

1.10€ · Founded 1962 · N.16175 · Passeig de Mallorca 9 A, Palma 07011

SANT ANTONI FEVER GRIPS MAJORCA: SEE INSIDE

BALEARIC CURE FOR BRITAIN'S BLUES

● Market research indicates that this coming so-called Blue Monday is not going to stop Britons from booking their summer holidays.

● The Balearics, Majorca in particular, is proving the most popular destination with airlines locked in a price war: Page three

● As a taste of things to come in the Balearics, temperatures dropped to freezing in London where there were also flurries of snow yesterday.

COLD FRONT TO HIT BALEARICS BRINGING SNOW!

PALMA. A mass of polar air will sweep across the Balearics this weekend.

It will bring with it winds of up to 100kph tomorrow, giving a "heat" sensation of minus three to four degrees.

Across the mainland the front will be loaded with moisture, but this won't be quite the same for the Balearics, where heavy rain is not being forecast. Nevertheless, there will be rain, and snow down to 300 metres is anticipated. There could be snow at lower levels, including sea level, though this is unlikely to settle and most of next week will be the same.

Taste Of India Indian Restaurant

DAILY MENU > 12.95€ p.p.
TASTING MENU > 19.50€ p.p.

Check our menu on www.tasteofindia.es

- BUSINESS LUNCHEAS AND DINNERS •
- DELIVERY SERVICE & TAKE AWAY •

Paseo Marítimo, 15. (next to Auditorium)
Telf.: 971 917 702 Móvil: 666 334 891

Avda. Rey Jaume I, Nº 92, Local 6, Santa Ponça. Telf.: 971 690 457