HOTTEST NIGHT ON RECORD IN MAJORCA

PALMA. Not until next week are we going to get a break in the weather. Maximum temperatures reached over 40°C in a number of parts of the island yesterday, 41.6°C at the university, for example, but what is making life unbearable is the high humidity level. The humidity is making the thermal sensation feel more like 44°C and the overnight temperatures are record highs. On Wednesday night in Puerto Pollensa it was 32.4°C.

POLICE ON TO TOURISM RADICALS

● National Police know who mounted anti tourism uprising and who ordered it: see page 3

ROYAL REGARDS

● King Felipe VI of Spain yesterday spent some time chatting with Pierre Casiraghi, the son of Princess Caroline of Monaco at the 36 Copa del Rey MAPFRE regatta in Palma.

Thousands want to be in Majorca Love Island next year

PALMA. In the space of just a week, tens of thousands of people have applied to be in the fourth series of Love Island which is filmed here in Majorca. This year's series, which featured popular Majorca resident Tyla Carr, was a massive hit.
