AN AIRPLANE EVERY 90 SECONDS

● Palma's Son Sant Joan airport broke passenger records for the second consecutive Saturday yesterday handling 180,000 travellers.

● Over the weekend, with an aircraft landing and taking off every 90 seconds, 500,000 passengers are expected. See page 3

ROYAL WATCHERS

● Members of the Spanish royal family took to the waters yesterday to support King Felipe VI who was competing in the 36 Copa del Rey MAPFRE regatta.

Heatwaves in Europe "may kill 150,000 each year"

LONDON. Heatwaves, wildfires and floods could kill more than 150,000 Europeans every year by the end of the century, scientists say.

Experts predict a series of weather-related disasters if there is no reduction in greenhouse gas emissions.

Between 1981 and 2010, there were, on average, 3,000 people killed annually by weather-related events. But this could soar to 152,000 annually between 2071 and 2100, according to a study in the Lancet Planetary Health journal. Climate change is responsible for 90% of the increased risk, while population growth, migration and urbanisation make up the other 10%. Page 29
