

Majorca Daily Bulletin

Saturday, December 1 2018

1.20€ · Founded 1962 · N.16761 · Passeig de Mallorca 9 A, Palma 07011

PM May says she's focused on her Brexit deal, not a plan B: See Full Report Inside

TO VOTE OR NOT TO VOTE

● British citizens look set to be able to vote in the local elections next May even though Britain is due to have left the European Union.

Palma.—Spanish councils have received no official notification from the central government in Madrid or the European Union regarding Brexit and it appears that those British citizens who are eligible to vote in their council elections will be able to do so in May even though Britain is expected to have left the European Union by that date.

Council sources told the Bulletin yesterday that thousands of British citizens will be on the electoral roll by early next year and unless they hear otherwise they will be voting in the local elections in May.

In fact the Calvia council will be launching a campaign urging foreigners to register with their council and get on the electoral roll.

In some areas the so-called expat vote is key. It was said that in Calvia the British vote gave the Partido Popular an overall majority on the council. It has also been claimed that the fact that the British didn't vote in large numbers at the last council elections in Calvia led to the victory of the Spanish Socialist Party (PSOE).

The British are still the biggest foreign community in Calvia. In other areas of the island the British vote in council elections also make a difference especially in areas like Deya and Pollensa.

Age Concern gets into Christmas in style

AGE Concern got into the Christmas spirit yesterday with a gala festive party in Genova yesterday. Scores of people attended and it was a certainly a fun event. Full Report with photographs in tomorrow's newspaper.

Festival fun at the event in Genova yesterday.

Obtain this collection of

6 NON-STICK METAL BAKEWARE with Majorca Daily Bulletin

Today
SPRING FORM CAKE TIN
 (20x7cm)

For only 5.95 +plus coupon

PYREX

Majorca Bulletin '12