“Never mind the backstop, the buck stops with me...”

The new Prime Minister Boris Johnson made his first public address outside Number 10 yesterday evening.

- “After three years of unfounded self-doubt, it is time to change the record.”
- “It is time we look not at the risks, but the opportunities upon us.”
- “We in this government will work flat out to give this country the leadership it deserves. And that work begins now.”
- “The people who bet against Britain are going to lose their shirts.” Pages 20,21
