CAN WE DARE TO HOPE?

● Majorca no longer at "extreme risk" from coronavirus as the number of cases continue to fall.

Majorca is no longer classified as being at extreme risk because of the level of coronavirus contagion.

The 14-day cumulative incidence per 100,000 has gone below 250 (extreme risk) and is now 241.17, which represents high risk.

There are, nevertheless, fifteen out of the 53 municipalities, which are at extreme risk, their 14-day incidence remaining above 250 - Banyalbufar, Bunyola, Escorca, Esporles, Manacor, Marratxi, Montuiri, Palma, Porreres, Puig-

Vaccination passport moves closer

London.—According to report in The Times, various UK government ministries are working on creating a vaccination passport. This passport could permit foreign tourism by May, by when the vaccination programme in the UK is expected to allow restrictions to be lifted.

punyent, Santa Eugenia, Santa Maria,

Greece, it is understood, is one country that will admit UK tourists with a vaccination passport from May. The president of the country's hoteliers confederation, Grigoris Tassios, says that Greece will be prepared to receive tourists who don't pose a risk of transmission or infection.

Soller, Valldemossa and Vilafranca.

In the 150 to 249 cases range (high risk) are Alcudia, Andratx, Ariany, Arta, Bugar, Calvia, Consell, Felanitx, Inca, Llucmajor, Mancor de la Vall, Sa Pobla, Sant Llorenç, Santanyi and Ses Salines.

Other municipalities are at medium risk (below 150) or, in the case of Sencelles, low risk, as the 14-day incidence is 30.4.

Eight municipalities have reported no new cases over the past 14 days - Campanet, Costitx, Deya, Estellencs, Fornalutx, Lloret de Vistalegre, Maria de la Salut and Petra.

A LOVELY DAY FOR A SWIM IN MAJORCA

Splashing out in Majorca in February. The island is enjoying record winter temperatures...and some even went for a swim! As our photographs, taken this morning by Humphrey Carter show, Majorca is a paradise throughout the year. Temperatures reached 25 degrees Centigrade. But a warning to bathers...high winds are being forecast for tomorrow.
