Running to fight cancer: See Inside

WRITE ON!

- Top British author, Lord Jeffrey Archer, is writing his new book on the island at his Majorca home.
- All his latest bestsellers have been written on Majorca.

Palma.—Top British author, Lord Jeffrey Archer, is on the island writing his new book at his Majorcan home, where he has written most of his latest bestsellers.

Lord Archer arrived on the island just before New Year, his first visit in numerous months.

In a post on social media he said that he was happy to be back on the island. He will spend the next few months writing the first draft of his book. His books have sold more than 320 million copies worldwide making him one of the world’s most successful authors. He has owned a home on the island for many years. His house was featured in the first episode of the BBC series The Mallorca Files.

No fourth jab

- Booster jabs are still providing high levels of protection for older people against severe disease from the Omicron coronavirus variant and there is no need for now for people to have a fourth shot, British health officials said. Around three months after receiving a third jab, protection against hospitalisation among those aged 65 and over remained at about 90%. By comparison, with only two vaccine doses, protection against severe disease for the over-65s dropped to around 70% after three months.

A cold start across the island

Palma.—Its freezing on Majorca! Not a headline you would expect for an island which is known worldwide for its sun but the minimum temperature dropped in the early hours of yesterday to -1 degrees Centigrade in Campos. Infact, it was colder overnight in Majorca than in many parts of the United Kingdom. These are the minimum temperatures overnight: 0 Petra 1 Muro 2 Palma airport 2 Manacor 2 Escorca, Lluc 2 Sa Pobla 2 Artà 3 Pollença 3 Serra d’Alfàbia 3 Porreres 3 Son Servera 3 Escorca, Son Torrella 4 Binissalem.
