Spring weather is back

Palma.—The spring-like weather made a welcome return on Thursday with top temperatures of 24 degrees. This week has seen the minimum temperatures dive to -3C in some parts of the island, with some fog. But the good weather is back. Forecast: Page 48

Palma.—In our biggest online poll ever, 88 per cent of those who took part in the survey called on Spain and the European Union to scrap the 90 day rule which means that non-resident Britons can only spend a maximum of 180 days in Spain every year (in two blocks of ninety days). The Spanish government is already pushing Brussels to scrap the ruling with France set to give non-resident British property owners special status. Even the Spanish government has said that they do not agree with the rule. Some British holiday home owners are pondering selling up because they are not able to use their homes when they want. The British are the biggest foreign property buyers in Spain with many of the homes being for holiday purposes. The 90 day rule was introduced when Britain left the European Union and it has had a major impact, especially on the all important real estate market.
