THE WORLD IS MALLORCA'S OYSTER

Palma.—Mallorca-based airline Air Europa is exploring the possibility of operating direct flights to South Africa from Spain with air links to Mallorca, as Palma Airport pushes its boundaries outside Europe.

Air Canada have announced direct flights to Palma from Toronto starting next summer, adding to the weekly seasonal flights from New York.

Etihad Airways will be adding Mediterranean flair to its summer schedule with new seasonal flights to Mallorca from 2026. From 12 June to mid-September 2026, the Abu Dhabi-based carrier will operate three weekly services to the island. This is all fantastic news for the local tourist industry. As one veteran hotelier says: "If there are no flights, there no tourists." The additional services from world international airports is a growing sign that the local tourist industry is becoming more diverse.

Gone with the wind in Mallorca

Palma.—Near gale force winds battered the island yesterday (Thursday), causing some damage.

There were gusts of up to 70/80 km/h and to 100 km/h in mountain areas.

The island had been on bad weather alert since yesterday morning. Things will be settling down today (Friday) and tomorrow; still mostly sunny and warm but with a risk of rain on Saturday.
