WASHOUT MALLORCA

The Palma Met Office said this week that it had been one of the coldest starts of the year as Mallorca continued to shiver in January. This week large amounts of rain fell across the island causing some damage. The only good news is that the rain has helped fill local reservoirs and could mean that there are fewer chances of a major supply problem this summer. The unsettled weather is expected to last well into the weekend with more rain being forecast.

See Page 39 for full weather forecast.
