PALMANOVA YACHT DRAMA

A maritime rescue craft came to the aid of a yacht which had got into difficulties off Palmanova yesterday morning. The yacht appeared to be moored and then got into problems, possibly as a result of the heavy rains and high winds which hit the island overnight. PHOTO: PHOTO: AMANDA BETGGREN.

Sanchez to Trump: "You cannot play Russian roulette with the destiny of millions..."

Madrid.— Spanish Prime Minister Pedro Sanchez doubled down on his opposition to the attack on Iran by the U.S. and Israel, warning that the conflict risked playing "Russian roulette" with the lives of millions. Sanchez was responding after U.S. President Donald Trump threatened to cut trade with Madrid over its position on the conflict.

"This is how humanity's great disasters start... You cannot play Russian roulette with the destiny of millions," Sanchez said in a televised address to the nation.

Tensions between the two NATO allies increased after Sanchez denounced the U.S. and Israeli bombings of Iran as reckless and illegal, and later banned U.S. aircraft from using naval and air bases in southern Spain for the offensive against Tehran.

Sanchez said the world could not solve its problems with conflicts and bombs.
